SPEL Products Remains Operational

SPEL Products would like to update our customers and specifiers that we continue to monitor and adjust our working conditions to ensure that we are working within the government guidelines to keep our staff and colleagues safe.

Our Sales and Client Support team are available to deal with your enquiries, most of whom are working remotely, our factory operation is fully functioning with minimum interruption and finished products are being dispatched to sites across the UK, Europe and Globally.

We are confident that our manufacturing ability will enable us to continue to deliver in line within permitted guidance, including our critical support sector clients such as health, emergency service, MOD, water and food.
